

Dividing Line BINGO!

Hey boys and girls! There's a fun new game we can all play. It's called "Dividing Line BINGO!*" Simply print out the form below, add or create your own bingo chips (pennies, checkers, or paper clips will do), and listen to any edition of apologist James White's "Diving Line" podcast. When you hear a response that matches a square, add your chip. When you get five chips in a row (in any direction) shout out "BINGO!" and you've won. For multiple players, simply create as many cards as needed, shuffle the responses on the cards, and see who gets "BINGO!" first.

*Note: "Dividing Line BINGO!" is approved for use on Sabbath Days.

Mentions Bart Ehrman	Talks about what he did in an airport while travelling	Confuses KJV-Onlyism with the TR position	Accuses an opponent of making a "straw man" argument	Mentions William Lane Craig
Talks about bike riding	Mentions Michael Brown	Chides Rich for making some kind of technical mistake	Makes a reference to his twitter account or FB page	Mentions Bart Erhman
Mentions Gail Riplinger	Talks about speaking in a mosque	Talks about Mormon apologetics back in the "old days"	Mentions "Catholic Answers"	Chides Christians for not being as civil to Muslims as he is
Talks about his incredible memory by mentioning where he was on a bike ride when he heard/read something	Mentions Molinism	Mentions Bart Ehrman	Claims that only modern text critic advocates can do apologetics in the "real world"	Confuses the Byzantine text position with the TR position
Promotes an upcoming "ministry" cruise	Accuses an opponent of making a "category error"	Talks about his exercise regime while on a ministry trip	Uses the word "inconsistency"	Mentions Bart Ehrman